My City, My Home

This is what makes my city my home. My town is Osawatomie, KS a small town Northeast corner of Kansas in Miami County. Being in Osawatomie is incredible because we have a history. Our history is the best. We were the cradle of the civil war when John Brown tried to protect us from pro-slavery people but failed. Then we had two presidents come and make a speech. Theodore Roosevelt came and made a speech then for the 100th anniversary Obama made a speech. Right now we aren't the biggest but we have the biggest hearts and we have some good school spirit. Most people here love the place and the people and you can feel the energy.

We have 20 police officers but they all do their best at their job. We have been a 2 class town ever since 1890. Right now we have 3 known cemeteries in our town. We have a place where people are buried called the old soldier monument which has 4 people buried and John Brown was buried in New York. We don't have a shopping place like Walmart, or Target but we have Sonic, Casey, and a liquor store. We are right by the Marais des Cygnes river but right now it doesn't have much water but when it does it's beautiful and sometimes I can hear it.

So this is the town that I share with many great people who are all nice, fun, and just good people in all. I love all the sweet teachers that spend their time helping students get an education which is super important. Some of the greatest heroes are the teachers. All 20 police officers are also amazing and they save lives which is brave and amazing. So what makes this wonderful place my home are the people.
